

School Turn Around

Turnaround schools vary in their individual needs and there is no clear-cut path to success. Our proven success is based on our ability to think outside the box to develop strategies that will help schools meet the markers that have been established by aligning goals to positive outcomes. After an in-depth needs assessment, we will formulate a plan specific to catapult your school to success.

Testimonial

Good afternoon, Dr. Keisha Gill Jacob I was sitting at my desk at the new Roosevelt senior high school in Washington DC. I thought about the major impact that Dr. Keisha Gill Jacobs had on the staff and students of DC public schools during her tenure. Dr. Jacobs help shape a positive culture and reformed the academic culture at Calvin Coolidge senior high school. We were under the leadership of DC public schools and the partnership of friends of Bedford from Brooklyn New York. Under that structure, Dr. Jacobs helped lead a team of educators/leaders from all different walks of life. Because of her leadership we took a failing school and turned it around academically we went up 20% on DCCAS scores, our enrollment went up 15%, Coolidge's suspensions rate went down by 7%. Dr. Jacobs was a favorite of the community, teachers, staff, students, and all stakeholders. I am a successful administrator and I thank you for your tutelage, your counseling, and the administrative love that you imparted in me. Currently, I am pursuing my doctorate and college leadership at Morgan State University, I owe that drive to you. You've made having a doctorate so cool that even a commoner / bad boy from Brooklyn NY such as myself felt he can do it as well. I salute you my friend, my sister, my mentor for you're a dynamic person, a great leader, and a compassionate educator.

- Vernard Kam Howard M.Ed.

Assistant Principal at District of Columbia Public Schools (DCPS)

